

Dr. Asma Hussein Malkawi, is a Research Assistant Professor at Ibn Khaldon Center for Humanities & Social Sciences, Qatar University since April 2020.

She has a BA and MA in Sociology, and a PhD in the philosophy of Communication from the University of Jordan.

Malkawi was teaching in the Social Sciences department at Qatar University for 5 years. She also worked with World Learning-SIT Study Abroad, as an Academic Coordinator and Students Research Advisor for 3 years.

She is the first winner of the third annual Arab Prize for the Social Sciences and the Humanities, for publication an article in an international journal. (March 2014). She is the author of “Communication ethics in the Digital Age”.

Malkawi got an expert level certificate on Social Network Analysis and delivered training using NodeXL for Social Sciences. She is Interested in Digital societies, Research Paradigms, and Digital & Qualitative research methods.